Creating meaningful change in our culture asks us to consider these strands of peacemaking:

Being Peaceful so that we can reach out from a peaceful and centered place.

Speaking Out Clearly when we see injustice or imbalance of power in the world.

Supporting Sustainable Initiatives that inspire our hope and imagination as we work to create a more cooperative culture.

Holding all three strands we can raise awareness, inspiring ourselves and others to make a difference.

As we find our way to peace, we weave these strands together.

Working together, we gain strength and flexibility.
